DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group I species polysiloxane, wick,....., pyrethrum ,ceramic in the reply filed on . 11/15/06 is acknowledged.

Claims 13-17 & 21-27 stand withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species & invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 11/15/06

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 6 recites the limitation "polysiloxane" .There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 9, 10, 18-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a & e) as being anticipated by DAVIS et al WO2004/068945.

Priority of the PCT is to 1/30/03 of US 01/354876.

The instant substrate with pores, coated with polymer is at [0018] with volatiles [0019] of pyrethrum [0071] in a wick [0067] and Example 1.

Claim 1, 2, 9, 10, 18, 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated WILLIAMS-3995595.

See figures V, VI, XIII- flat slabs or round substrates, porous, of granular material, siliceous- the instant sand (col. 7, lines 25-52) with absorbed volatile insecticides, is shown Polymers or binders of Rosoin, resins, inclusive of phenols are disclosed (col.

8, line 53+), thus obvious for the artisan as appropriate to obtain the required porosity as taught (col. 7, lines 22-53).

Extended efficacy is shown (example 5) & loss of insecticide is readily determinable

(col. 13, top), & is shown follows a linear rate; so the same effects as instantly claimed, given the same materials, would result.

Intended use of heat (instant claim 10) is not of patentable weight in consideration of the claimed substrate per se. Pyrethrum is at column 8, line 48; polymers of silicone are at column 8, lines 33-37.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1615

Claim 1, 9-11, 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over YAMAMOTO et al EP)253640.

Porous wicks, heatable to fumigate (page 2, top) with a pyrethrum compound (page 2, line 49) are coated with polymer (page 3, lines 35-48) are the claimed instant composition, thus would have to function as claimed. Ceramic, as glass fiber, or terra alba is a substrate (page 3, lines 33-36).

Double Patenting

Claims 1, 2, 10 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 9 of copending Application No. 10/354876

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the instant substrate can be met by granular particles, of ceramics, thus anticipated by the now patent of 10/354876.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented, however, when the patent # is assigned, the rejection will be maintained over the issued patent of 10/354876.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 3-5,7,8,& 12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
